

Covid Truths Part 2 – Don't Die of Ignorance

By Ivan Fraser 19th December 2021

(Important note. I am not a doctor and am not qualified to recommend any of the therapies that are mentioned in the following article, or links thereto. This article is for information purposes only. Always consult your doctor before taking any medication or treatment therapy.)

In July 2021 I wrote an article under anonymity, providing the background to Covid-19, the disease that results from infection by the SARS-COV-2 virus. I provided information from some of the leading experts in the scientific community on the origins of the virus, and the subsequent problems associated with the vaccination programme. It is advisable that you read that document first to ensure you have a solid understanding of the following article.

<https://thewhiterose.uk/covid-truths-revealing-article-from-health-care-professional/>

However, to fully grasp the simplicity of my case – despite the enormously complex issues that have arisen – you need to understand one fundamental fact to give proper context and perspective to what we are in the midst of.

Covid 19 is treatable in the vast majority of patients, of all ages. It is treatable to the level of nearly 100% success if treatments are started early.

For example:

Since March 2020, my team has successfully treated over 3,000 patients with Covid-19 with the Zelenko Protocol. Our high-risk patient survival rate was >99.3% (0.7% mortality) which represents a radical improvement when compared to national data of high-risk patients with a survival rate of 92.5% (7.5% mortality). My team has successfully prophylaxed (prevention) a similar number of patients against COVID-19 with the Zelenko Protocol, with a patient survival rate of 100%. I have provided counsel to governments, physicians and hospital networks regarding prophylaxis and prehospital care of Covid-19 and I am fully familiar with their results.

<https://vladimirzelenkomd.com/#writings>

The above is taken from the writings of Dr. V. Zelenko, a doctor in New York who was a medical advisor to US President Donald Trump.

Treatments for the effects of the SARS-CoV-2 virus were already known and had been used by doctors for the original SARS virus previously. Well researched safe and effective medications such as Hydroxychloroquine, for example. It is inconceivable that the world's medical community was unaware of how to treat SARS-Cov-2 infected patients who were presenting with symptoms of Covid19. They had, by the time Zelenko started treating his patients, at least three months to prepare for the pandemic, with ample time and opportunity to put their combined knowledge of how to treat Covid19, and how to put such preventative measures, in place.

Such treatments have been known since the outbreak of the pandemic. They have been further refined and developed since. Treatment protocols for even high risk patients who had developed significant deadly symptoms were being treated early in the pandemic with successful outcomes.

It is imperative to start treatment early, to prevent the virus causing the kind of damage that may lead to severe symptoms and death. Those with pre-existing risk factors of advanced age and/or significant co-morbidities should have been targeted for early treatment with prophylactic nutrients from the outset, and if presenting with symptoms should have been given more advanced protocols. Public health messaging should have included advice on how to prime the innate defences we all have to prevent severe respiratory disease, using readily available nutrients and supplements and home-based therapies, should we suspect infection. But this was never done. Instead, we were warned of the signs and symptoms of the disease and encouraged to stay at home should we develop them. In the event of severe symptoms, after the virus had gained a significant foothold, only then were we encouraged to seek medical assistance.

Which means that the overwhelming majority of people who have died of Covid19 have died needlessly. Most could have been treated successfully at home and never needed hospital treatment, had such treatments been made available. Hospitals should have had advanced safe and effective treatment protocols already in place to treat the severely sick, which could have drastically increased life expectancy and reduced hospital stay significantly. Hospitals should never have been overwhelmed at any stage, no masking, lockdowns, enforced treatments and law-breaking policies were ever necessary to combat this pandemic. The vaccination programme was never justified, and nor was it legal, because pre-existing safe and effective treatments exist, which negate the legality and necessity of any of the vaccines.

(Links to Covid prevention, and treatment protocols can be found at the end of this article. Always consult a qualified professional before attempting any therapy.)

Many of the effective treatments for Covid are some of the safest natural substances and medications that exist. They are also amongst the cheapest. And every medical agency on the globe has been aware of this since the outbreak. Meaning that the whole world has been held to ransom in fear and confusion by governments and medical authorities who have knowingly allowed people to become ill and die unnecessarily.

Thousands of doctors have been using treatment protocols since the beginning of the pandemic which have obliterated the harmful effects of the virus and the variants. In countries and areas that have adopted these treatments, such as Uttar Pradesh in India, Covid has hardly a foothold in the population. Whereas in countries and areas that do not use such treatments, in countries where vaccination has been used to combat Covid, these are the countries with the highest rates of Covid infection, hospitalizations and deaths.

Please take a moment to let all that sink in.

The sheer enormity of the crime. And I say crime, rather than 'mistake' or 'error' or even 'stupidity'. Allowing anyone to die, either untreated, or treated with a dangerous medicine, rather than treated early with proven safe and effective treatment protocols, can be nothing other than death by negligence and outright malfeasance.

So stop the internal dialogue. Stop the ifs and buts. Stop the internal conflict that you trust your doctors and scientists and governments and media to tell you the truth. Stop assuming that we must obey the edicts of the leaders because they know best; they have only our best interests at heart and after all have examined all the data and are 'following the science'.

That single fact, if fully comprehended, will, and should, blow away any trust you have in our current leaders, and it should chill you to the core.

Why, you may rightly ask, have we allowed ourselves to come so far down the path to global fascism orchestrated by governments in league with pharmaceutical companies who have held us all to ransom on the basis of the biggest lie that has been perpetrated in our lifetime?

Look around you. Do you see that we are living in a Twilight Zone reality more akin to George Orwell's 1984 than any form of reality you hitherto assumed you were in?

Your perceptions of what has happened and is happening, have been carefully designed to herd you into believing a series of lies that have generated so much fear that you have simply allowed the interests of big business to destroy your freedom.

You have been encouraged at every turn, using every psychological, statistical, political and financial trick in the book, to avert your eyes and mind away from the simple truth: Covid is and always was curable.

We have all been categorized into one of 2 camps: 'good' and 'bad'. If you are good, and do not see or know the truth, you are rewarded with a limited range of freedoms. If you are 'bad', many of those freedoms are removed, unless you convert to the 'good' camp.

I explore in detail what it means to be 'good' or 'bad' in this narrative, and the shocking consequences of even questioning the current single narrative here: <https://thewhiterose.uk/good-versus-bad-public-perception-of-the-covid-issue-massively-skewed/>

To precis my own experience: I qualified as a Registered General Nurse in 1991. So I had three years training in one of the best health authorities in the country, in Newcastle Upon Tyne. Since then I have worked in numerous fields, including industry, private healthcare, prison and at least 20+ care homes for the elderly. I left nursing to pursue a vocation of researching a wide range of issues to do with alternative and complementary health care, medical and pharmaceutical fraud, as well as other aspects of 'alternative' philosophy, history and issues many would refer to as 'conspiracy theories'. Since 2011 I have been employed full time in care for the elderly as a nurse.

When, in 2020, a lockdown of my care home was announced because of the response to Covid, my unit of 30 residents was full. But within less than 2 months, the number of those in my care was reduced to 15, exactly half. We had been one of the first homes to suffer an outbreak of Covid. Many of my residents died untreated for their symptoms, with some being treated only with medications designed to ameliorate discomfort at the end of life.

At that time, I was not aware of the safe and effective treatments for Covid. If someone became ill with clear Covid symptoms, doctors were reluctant to even come to the home. There was an attitude of defeatism and inevitability: 'They've got Covid so will probably be dead by the time we get there, but we'll put you on the list.' Nobody was speaking about treating them, and everyone was in panic mode because so many were going to die unavoidably, and there were no treatments. If you were 'lucky' enough to be deemed worthy of sending to hospital, you might get treatment of a sort; perhaps some oxygen and be ventilated and, 'fingers crossed' you might pull through. But most of the elderly residents in my care were not going to be going to hospital, many of them had advanced Emergency Health Care Plans stating 'not for admission to hospital' and for in-house GP-led care only.

Prior to the lockdown, one resident was visited by a relative who was carrying the virus. In the first week of the lockdown she became ill with a respiratory infection, and I sent her to hospital.

Unbeknownst to us all, she was our first case of Covid. We were unlucky: we had locked 'in' our Covid, when we thought we had locked it out. In the week that followed, I and my colleague, the other nurse who had been looking after this lady at the time, developed a fever and became ill. I required just 10 days' isolation, but had recovered after merely a few days, whilst my colleague's symptoms were a lot worse, and she required 3 weeks sick leave to recover. She was able to access one of the first available PCR tests, but I chose not to travel 10 miles to get a test, thinking it more sensible just to stay at home.

My symptoms were mild. In fact, symptoms were largely absent. I had a fever, but no respiratory symptoms, only mild nasal stuffiness, no cough, no headache. What I did have was an extreme fatigue and malaise that lasted a few days. And yet, numerous colleagues would go on to have a severe flu-like illness and test positive for Covid. They all were keen to tell me how dreadful it had been.

Why? I was an overweight 52 year old smoker. At the time, this was a set of factors that was supposed to put me in a bracket of high risk.

Although I knew nothing of the treatments being used elsewhere, even at this time, I had always been 'health aware', and ate a nutritional vegetarian diet. I also consume numerous supplements, some of which are now recognised to significantly reduce the risk of severe Covid. Furthermore, I had picked up a few flu-like bugs in the previous year, which was unusual for me, so I had recently recovered from respiratory viruses including, undoubtedly, coronaviruses.

We now know that some of the supplements I was taking are significant factors in Covid treatment and recovery. I was already taking Vitamin D at over 3000iu per day and zinc. In addition, B complex, a general multivitamin/mineral, omega 3 oil, nascent iodine, magnesium, curcumin and spirulina. Perhaps significantly, I also had started taking a herb called Ashwagandha which aids with stress, but also has been shown to have significant antiviral properties.

I did not increase or change my diet or supplement regime whilst ill. And as I told my colleagues at the start of the pandemic, I am not afraid of the virus but am very concerned by the government's response to it. I recall telling my colleagues in March/April 2020 that the coming Christmas would be remembered as the one we could not spend with our relatives.

I could see from that time that the nation would need to make personal sacrifices, to pull together for probably about a year, to protect the vulnerable and the Health Service, which would incur collateral damage: fewer elective surgeries, an increase in the backlog for treatments and diagnoses of other diseases, an increase in pressures on people's mental health leading inevitably to certain – but perhaps inevitable – personal tragedies and increased suicide rates, in-home abusive behaviour. But a treatment protocol would soon come along and sort out this mess.

(I had started hearing rumours about treatment protocols being used in New York and S. America with great success later, still early on in the pandemic, and assumed that the government would be expediting advice to our doctors to initiate treatment protocols here.)

I also knew that any vaccine programme would be plagued with difficulty – given all the previous failures to produce any coronavirus vaccine – and even if successful, it would take years to develop and trial before it could be used in the public; by which time, this severe respiratory virus would have evolved/mutated like other similar viruses to be a cold or flu-like illness with much lower morbidity and mortality. After all, that was the usual pattern for such viruses. A basic appreciation of immunity and virology is enough to understand that.

I had no idea at that time that common sense and the basic biology and immunology text books would be systematically thrown to one side, whilst the world reacted to this virus as though it was a unique mysterious pathogen with no known cure that would decimate humanity unless we could find a single treatment to eradicate it: a vaccine.

I had no idea that in the USA and South America, people were already being successfully treated for Covid by the few doctors prepared to actually use established safe and effective medication to save their patients' lives, whilst here we just sat by and watched them die without even trying simple established medications such as prednisolone.

I had no idea that successful treatments had already been found, and even by December 2021, more than a year and a half later, none of the established safe and effective have even been put into common use in Europe or America.

For the first time in history, people are being diagnosed with a recognised potentially fatal illness, and are being told to go home and take paracetamol. And if the disease progresses and they are severely ill, to go to hospital. If their blood oxygen level drops so low that they need supplementation, to then seek help!

What other major disease do we diagnose and then offer no treatment? What other disease do we not seek the earliest treatment to prevent a worse outcome than late treatment or no treatment at all? Why let a virus gain hold in a person, that may have a fatal outcome, and let it replicate sufficiently to cause serious symptoms, instead of arresting the virus as soon as possible so that the later consequences of the higher viral load may be prevented? And why have we allowed this to continue for so long? What has addled the brains of our doctors so much that they cannot see to implement even the most basic treatments for their patients, especially when many of them are at risk of severe disease?

When there were doctors around the world shouting 'good news, don't panic, we have safe and effective treatments', why wasn't the entire world made aware of this? Why weren't all doctors engaged in treating and saving their patients, rather than abstaining from treating them and merely watching them die? Often alone and scared, and without even being allowed the company of their loved ones? The scale of the pain, suffering and heartbreak is almost unimaginable. And almost entirely avoidable from the outset!

When these brave pioneering doctors around the world were curing Covid with simple regimes including zinc, Hydroxychloroquine and Vitamin D, for a few quid a course, GPs elsewhere were doing nothing, or sending people to hospital to suffer and be put on ventilators with a 9 out of 10 chance of dying. Later in the saga, the brave doctors expanded their protocols to include other safe and effective medications such as Ivermectin and aspirin and prednisolone and honed their protocols into an almost 100% effective set of treatment regimes if given early.

Unfortunately, most people who have developed advanced and dangerous Covid19 symptoms were not given any advice or treatment early, and it is these patients who have ended up in hospital. Fortunately, there are numerous doctors using these advanced protocols to successfully treat patients. Sadly, some of these patients have been extremely ill and debilitated by Covid, despite even the best efforts of doctors using the more effective advanced protocols.

So where was the government advice to enhance one's health prophylactically against severe Covid with these same cheap and effective readily-available supplements, such as Vitamins, Minerals etc? Why didn't they provide all vulnerable people with Vitamin D, which would have slashed massively their risk of developing severe Covid? Especially when responses to the pandemic included staying at home, indoors, where natural exposure to sunlight was impossible for many, leading to a drop in Vitamin D levels, which are usually naturally boosted by exposure to sunlight. And for those people who are elderly or have darker skin (especially those of African, African-Caribbean and South Asian heritage) supplementation with Vitamin D is even more important, as they have a reduced ability to make it through the skin.

Why was Hypochlorous Acid not promoted for general use on people, animals and environment? HOCL is a safe and effective, non-irritant and hypoallergenic disinfectant which kills Covid in just 1 minute! It can be nebulized and kill Covid in the airways of the infected. (I strongly suspect that this is what Donald Trump was referring to in a now famous press conference which was ridiculed in the mainstream media around the world.)

Likewise, Hydrogen Peroxide solution may be nebulized and kills pathogens in the airways with the added benefit of increased oxygenation and amelioration of chest symptoms in mere minutes. Budesonide inhalation – a common steroid - would reduce inflammation in the lungs, one of the main symptoms of Covid, and one of the most deadly. Covid is deadly, mainly due to its inflammatory response in the lungs and in the body, with associated thrombotic complications. So why wasn't prednisolone, which is a powerful anti-inflammatory, given to everyone who experienced moderate to severe Covid symptoms to prevent the major damage done by inflammation?

(Again, do not attempt any therapy without consulting a qualified professional. Certain therapies, such as those above may cause damage if administered incorrectly and in the wrong dosages and dilutions).

When has it ever been the practice of doctors to take an approach of no treatment for a potentially fatal illness which presents with common readily treatable symptoms? Symptoms that, were they present in any other non-Covid patients, they would have treated immediately with common therapies? Even when those treatments would alleviate symptoms and not address the cause, all doctors would provide those therapies to their patients. So why is it different for this particular disease?

What to think of every doctor who has had patients who presented with any of the symptoms of Covid which included dyspnoea (difficulty breathing and low oxygen levels), inflammation of the lungs, dangerously high fever, thrombotic disease or clotting disorder, and did not even treat symptomatically with standard medication?

And every doctor who sat by and watched their patient deteriorate unto death without trying known treatments, even to alleviate symptoms, or who did not even come to see those suffering with Covid symptoms and merely made a call to them or their carer telling them that they had nothing to offer?

I cannot accuse most doctors of negligence and malfeasance who were unaware of the curative protocols for Covid; as they were, in the vast majority, unaware of their existence. But every doctor knows how to treat a respiratory infection.

So now you see the basis for what is to follow. Without this simple understanding that you have just lived through a period in history in which millions of people have been allowed to suffer and die, often in the most distressing of circumstances, without being treated with the known curative medicines, you will fail to appreciate the enormity of what followed, and why.

You may try to convince yourself that the governments and scientists and medical agencies really do have our best interests at heart, but somehow they erred, or have been perhaps misled. You might continue to think that these clever people know a lot that you don't, so you have no place in criticising their heroic efforts to combat an emergency, a pandemic of monumental proportions. You may believe that anything said against the current narrative is wrong, misguided, conspiracy theory, even dangerous and may result in harm to the current population who are doing 'the right thing' and obeying the rules.

You may still believe that 'the right thing' is to follow their treatment regimes of 'no treatment until you are on death's door, then go to the hospital to be mistreated until you die.' You may still believe that the only way out of the pandemic is to get 'vaccinated' with any one of the most dangerous vaccines in history. Even if you have seen your friends or loved ones die, suffer, or become disabled by Covid or the vaccines, you might still be an advocate for the no treatment but vaccines mantra that is being drilled into your psyche 24 hours a day in mainstream media.

Only when you appreciate the simple fact that it was ALL preventable, and that our leaders in medicine and politics KNEW it was all preventable, will you begin to see this for what it is.

When you appreciate the fact that not only was it preventable, but planned, then hopefully your spell will be lifted. You will have, in the words of the movie The Matrix, taken the red pill. You will have removed the great illusion falsely perceived as 'the real world'.

You MUST resist the propaganda and the brainwashing from government scientists, medical agencies, pharmaceutical companies and their tools in the mainstream media. If you do not it may well be you lying alone in a hospital bed struggling to breath, surrounded by anonymous masked individuals who have elected not to treat you with known cheap effective medicines and nutrients. It may be your families and loved ones whose hearts are broken, their minds traumatized and their lives ruined, as they are prevented from even holding your hand as you suffer in a hospital prison somewhere.

Moreover, you may well be one of the very tools they use to introduce further illegal mandates to restrict or abolish freedoms that our forefathers fought to preserve. Do not think all this will be over and that we will get back to normal. Do not think that it's only the unvaccinated whose freedoms they will destroy; that it is only the healthcare workers who they will sack for not taking illegal mandatory vaccines that are still in the experimental phase. Do not think they will not come for you to continue to take further enforced medication that has no benefit and has risks massively disproportionate to benefit.

Do not believe you are safe.

Do not believe that you are not on the edge of Orwell's dystopia governed by a handful of overreaching private companies that currently have even Prime Ministers and Presidents in their pockets.

Wake up. Wake up now. The time is short.

In less than 2 years we have allowed our leaders to turn the world upside down, ruin countless lives, introduce acts and mandates taking away fundamental freedoms and rights, and even to the choice of what we put in our own bodies.

For what? A virus that is fatal, if untreated, to less than 1% of the population, mainly in those over the age of the average lifespan, which is cold-like or flu-like in the majority, which is harmless to the young? A virus which is lethal essentially to those who have multiple comorbidities, and poses very little risk to the healthy? Most importantly, a virus that causes a disease that is almost 100% curable if treated early?

So where is the emergency?

Now, are you open to the mindset of those 'crazies' you heard about on the telly, speaking of a 'plandemic', a 'hoax', a 'conspiracy'? Maybe now you are beginning to appreciate that they are not so crazy after all? That they are not your enemies, they are your friends and they are your brothers and sisters in a monumental struggle to try to get you to see that you, as they, are under attack from forces that you are only beginning to comprehend.

The news told you that all these crazy people were bad, that they had loony conspiracy theories such as 'there is no virus', that it's all just a hoax caused by wireless technology, that such people are either mad or bad.

They have never told you that most of us are well-informed. That we do not believe the more extreme conspiracy theories. Many of us have medical backgrounds. The most vaccine resistant are those with PhDs. Amongst the most prominent and vociferous 'crazies' are some of the world's foremost experts in medicine and medical science. Did you ever hear that some of these scientists, including one Nobel Prize winning scientist have put forward a legal case for 'crimes against humanity'?

Are you also aware that all of us have been censored or banned from social media, and search engines, so you cannot even search for this information? And they have employed 'fact-checkers' in the pay of the same pharmaceutical agencies to argue against any information coming from these informed scientists and objectors? They have ridiculed and denigrated these eminent people of science with carefully constructed 'hit pieces' and denied you access to what they are actually saying.

Perhaps now you are beginning to see that all of the propaganda and fear-driven claptrap you have been fed 24/7 by the mainstream media – all those statistics of dead and dying and infected, and all the responses based upon them, have all been for the purpose of controlling you, keeping you in fear, and keeping you in the herd that is being controlled by a pack of wolves that has been content to watch you and your loved ones suffer horrendously, whilst they reap ever-increasing profits.

My friends, dear readers, we are not insane. We are not your enemy. We are the same flesh and blood people with families and children under assault by the same common enemy. WE are at war with a psychopathic cult leadership which preaches death, suffering and slavery to its flock for its own prosperity. Why on earth would any sane person support this insanity?

Do you honestly believe, given what I have told you, that we are not living in a fascist dictatorship ruled by psychopathic bureaucrats who are committing atrocities?

Have you learned NOTHING from your history books?

Do you believe that we are so universally enlightened and civilised, merely 70 years on from World War 2, that such things could never again happen? That a handful of people could not coordinate a mass propaganda exercise through the agencies they own: media, petrochemicals, banking, pharmaceuticals, social media and computer technology, and so many politicians and lawyers they have in their pockets? That they are not clever enough to persuade the mass of ordinary people to be so misinformed, confused and terrified of a non-existent threat, that they would not hand over all of their rights and property and even bodies to this same handful of manipulators? That in doing so, they would not be able to marshal the most advanced technology and psychological persuasion techniques to create a population that actually asks or even demands they do it?

And those same brainwashed masses, who are as much victims as anyone else, are starting to turn on their neighbours as enemies, dangerous mad or bad subhumans unworthy of their rights?

Because it has all happened before. And it is happening now. Again. Because people are ignoring the lessons of history and have been carefully persuaded by experts into believing it couldn't happen again. Only this time, it's global. These same few companies and idealists are global. They have encouraged apparent distractions and opposite forces such as liberalism v communism, right v left, good v bad. They are a centralist force operating through their many-armed beasts in industry and capitalism through their companies, politicians and media outlets all over the world, in unison.

History needs to be studied and lessons learned. All the freedoms we enjoy today were earned by the sweat, blood and tears of our ancestors who stood up against tyrants of history.

One such tyrant, Anthony Fauci, has already used this same historical playbook, and unbelievably is still getting away with it. Fauci commandeered research and therapies for AIDS in the 1980s. He suppressed all of the known safe and effective treatments for AIDS, and mandated the use of the most toxic treatment available – AZT. AZT was too toxic to be of use to cancer patients, so he repurposed it for AIDS. Many of the symptoms of AIDS were the known side-effects of AZT. Tens of thousands died of AIDS in the West before safe and effective therapies were allowed for treatment of AIDS. Today, Fauci has mandated the most toxic therapy available for Covid – Remdesivir – as the treatment of choice whilst suppressing the use of safe and effective therapies. Remdesivir was trialled as a treatment for polio but was found to be too toxic – in fact deadly. So, of course, he repurposed it for mandated treatment in US hospitals.

The side effects of Remdesivir are organ damage, leading to kidney failure, leading to pulmonary oedema (fluid overload in the lungs) and heart failure. The symptoms of which are easily translated as the death throes of Covid 19, in which flooding of the lungs looks just like pneumonia – the ultimate deadly conclusion of the Covid experience in most cases. Remdesivir is also hugely expensive and requires at least a week in hospital to administer, whereas Covid can be treated at home with a treatment protocol costing only tens of pounds, or less, if administered early.

Only if not treated early, and the virus is allowed to overtake the host, thereby creating widespread damage to the body, does treatment need to be implemented that takes a long time and a hospital stay to correct and monitor. Even then, there are treatment protocols that are safe and effective compared to the deadly Remdesivir and ventilation.

Without those numbers of deaths in hospital, they have no statistical leverage to keep you in fear of a virus that is non-lethal if treated early.

Individuals like Fauci are at the hub of the medical conspiracy to suppress known safe and effective, and cheap, treatments in favour of deadly and expensive therapies. And what Fauci says goes for all America. And when America speaks, the rest of the world listens and follows suit. It is a conspiracy of psychopathic eugenicists who feel they have total control and authority over the general population, to their own profit and aggrandisement. Their egos are entirely out of control. They are utterly insane and monumentally dangerous.

How else do you explain a world united against a zero threat, in which billions have no access to the true information they need for an informed choice, which has seen millions suffer and die needlessly, and entire economies and societies turned over?

Prior to Covid 19, the answers to the following questions would have been clear and based in scientific fact, and therefore not up for question:

Is it right not to treat respiratory infections with standard medical treatments?

Is it right to not treat ill people who, by denying their treatment will lead to their illness getting worse, and in some cases allow them to die?

Is it right to treat anyone with any treatment other than the ones proven to be successful in almost 100% of cases?

Is it right to enforce the public who are not infected to quarantine in their homes?

Is it right to create a vaccine and enforce it on people for viruses they have only less than 1% chance of dying from?

Is it right to enforce people to be vaccinated for a disease they have already had and recovered from, when their natural immunity is dozens of times more robust than vaccinated immunity?

Is it right to enforce vaccines that are still experimental and have not completed trials with no long term data on side-effects?

Is it right to create an intramuscular injection which bypasses the airways and circulates inside the body via the bloodstream, for a respiratory infection and then to falsely promote those vaccines as though they will prevent transmission? A vaccine that is designed against systemic symptoms within the body is incapable of preventing viruses that attack the surface of the airways and gut. Consequently, the vaccinated and unvaccinated can become infected via the airways and carry the same viral loads in their airways. The vaccine only becomes active once the virus enters the blood and the systemic effects of the virus can be mediated by the immune response stimulated by the vaccine.

Is it right to continue to promote the false idea that the vaccines can prevent infection and transmission in society when they were not designed to do so, but were designed to alleviate mild to moderate symptoms in the vaccinated?

Is it right to make people show their papers to be allowed to take part in normal activities and freedoms such as travel, entertainment, using shops etc?

Is it right to restrict the freedoms of individuals based upon their medical status?

Is it right to be made to reveal your medical status to others as a requirement to partake in normal life?

Is it right to make people wear entirely ineffective face coverings that every scientific study proves incapable of preventing aerosol viral transfer to and from the wearer? That has almost no impact on viral transmission?

Is it right to force children to wear masks all day that quantitatively create psychological harm, breed dangerous pathogens in the masks leading to increased disease, reduce oxygen and increase carbon dioxide, and over time quantitatively inhibit psychological and emotional development?

Is it right to coerce or entice anyone to take an experimental trial medicine without giving full informed consent?

Is it right to allow businesses with a criminal history of fraud and malfeasance to both control the scientific data narrative of its products and also dictate their use whilst making billions of pounds of profit?

Is it right to allow them to claim a 75 year secrecy clause on a product that is being administered to billions of people?

Is it right that these same companies are uniquely indemnified against any legal claims should their products cause harm to their clients?

Is it right to sack people from their jobs and careers because they have chosen not to take an experimental medicine?

Is it right to allow governments to shut down the entire economy and introduce laws and acts to combat a virus that in reality should pose no threat to anyone if treated properly?

Is it right for governments to hand over the rights of its citizens to what are essentially private companies, through consolidation of medical and financial data via a set of technological devices such as apps which can be used to track not only people's whereabouts, but also all of their personal medical and financial data? Especially when the aim is to transfer all of that data to centralized servers in the hands of private companies? Especially when that technology will then become the new form of currency, means of purchasing goods, means of operating other technology such as electric vehicles, accessing services, and holding access to freedoms as a form of passport?

Is it right to put evolutionary pressure on a virus with a global vaccination programme, thereby encouraging the rise of variants (including vaccine-escaping variants)?

Is it right, given what we know about infectious viruses, to treat them with a vaccine that does not kill them, but instead predisposes the entire population to creating so-called super-bugs that may gain dominance, such as we witnessed with the overuse of antibiotics?

Pre-Covid, all of these questions would have been answered with a self-evident and resounding no!

(An exception to the above is the flu vaccination. Healthcare workers have been encouraged by propaganda to take an annual flu shot 'to protect' those they care for. However, the flu vaccine is, like the Covid vaccine, designed to reduce symptoms in the vaccinated and is not capable of preventing infection or transmission).

What on earth has happened to the brains of all the scientists and doctors, nurses and even medical students who all know this basic stuff to be true and yet are allowing so many dangerous and illogical practises to continue as though they are anything but utter madness, with barely a whisper of dissent?

Nobody in their right mind would vote for a technological dictatorship that would disempower anyone who chose to opt out of a medication which has death as a side-effect.

And yet, in less than 2 years, we have gone from a world where such things were unimaginable, to a world full of people almost begging for it to be implemented so they can get back to 'normal', when we can 'build back better.'

I assure you, the build back is not going to be better. It will centralise power, strip you of your wealth, health and human rights, and penalize anyone who resists.

Klaus Schwab, a major architect of this Great Reset is on record as saying: 'You will own nothing, and be happy.' This will be a New World Order designed and implemented to the detriment of the masses and to the benefit of the few.

THAT is the plan for humanity. THAT is why the world's governments have allowed so many to suffer and die and embrace a new technology that they call a vaccine, for a disease that posed no threat in the first place.

The vaccines are not only ineffective, do not prevent transmission, do not prevent infection, but they actively, over time, gradually increase vulnerability to not only the Covid virus, but to all diseases. It interferes with our innate immune system, causing autoimmune dysfunction. It has the potential to cause so much disease over the coming years that we will see a significant reduction in the world population. It is a self-serving beast. Risks far outweigh benefits – and those benefits are slight and short term only.

The vaccines carry so much risk to natural immunity, direct risk of thrombo-inflammatory conditions, harm and death with next to no benefit, that they are more accurately referred to as 'bioweapons'.

The vaccines contain mRNA that causes the vaccinated to create so many toxic Spike protein pathogens, that persist for months in the body. They can kill people quickly. But in most cases kill and maim slowly, over time. They cause inflammation throughout the body, thromboses, immune system damage, mis-folded proteins called prions (found in dementia and 'mad cow disease'), neurological damage, and who knows what else? They also create an immune response in pregnant women to their own pregnancy. Miscarriages and spontaneous abortions were observed in 82% of those injected with these vaccines in the trial.

Surely, this is part of a depopulation agenda? What other explanation is there?

It is worth repeating – in case your programming has started to kick in again and you are thinking the vaccines are a viable solution - the disease itself is almost 100% curable and no vaccine has EVER been that effective against any virus.

No emergency authorization is legally allowed for any vaccine if there exists a viable treatment!

Now do you see how evil these people are? They have hidden and suppressed known healthy treatments from us, in order to create the illusion of a massive existential emergency that needs an illegal vaccine as the only possible solution!

Even when, globally, laws have been ratified that makes it illegal for them to coerce or entice anyone to take an experimental medicine, never mind mandate it. When laws exist that insist that everyone who has capacity has the right to full and informed consent to whatever treatments they choose, this evil cabal has imposed acts and laws on entire populations in direct contravention to laws that were specifically implemented to prevent it.

After World War 2, the world cried 'never again.' Never again can anyone experiment on its population. Never again can scientists and doctors harm, maltreat or kill anyone or allow them to be killed either by action or negligence. The Nuremberg Code was written specifically to prevent rogue governments implementing laws that allowed institutionalised malfeasance and experimentation on its populace.

Yet here we are. In just 2 years, we have gone from champions of what was right to being the victims of mass criminality by our own governments working as agents of private businesses who hold to eugenicist beliefs. People who believe that the end justifies the means. A belief that is okay with an acceptable number of casualties; in other words, it carries an 'acceptable level of risk'.

Is tens of thousands of recorded vaccine-related deaths (indicating hundreds of thousands of actual deaths) from official government sources, and millions of adverse reactions, acceptable for a virus which causes a disease that is almost 100% successfully treatable or preventable?

Is a future of unknown quantities of deaths and almost unlimited potential for illness an acceptable risk for a virus that causes a disease that is almost 100% successfully treatable or preventable?

We are at war. These vaccines are silent weapons for a quiet war. One which the masses have no idea they are fighting. And the first casualty of war is, as always, the truth.

They have allowed untold suffering in order to get the masses into a state of such fear that they now have a mass delusion, a psychological fugue state they cannot escape. Fighting the good fight, they have watched their families and friends die horribly to benefit the agenda of psychopaths. They have done so willingly, and in all good conscience!

They have done so to enable a multi-billion pound business to profit. So it could gain enough power and wealth and influence over every man, woman and child on earth, to move to the ultimate goal of complete technocratic control over their lives.

It is not about Covid, nor is it about a vaccine. If it were about Covid, they would have allowed the world to know how to treat it successfully, rather than suppressing them and attacking the scientists and doctors using the appropriate treatment protocols.

If it was about the vaccine, they would not have chosen an experimental mRNA technology that is highly toxic and pathogenic, from merely one part of the virus, which does not confer any immunity to the whole virus to the recipient. One which cannot protect the airways from becoming infected by the virus. A vaccine that is highly toxic and potentially deadly to the entire world's population. A vaccine implemented without any long term safety studies to be certain that it is not dangerous to the entire human species.

It is bigger than all that. It is about control. It is about reducing the population of the planet to maximize profit for a handful of mega-powerful businesses.

In doing so, the great existential crisis of a warming planet, excessive consumption, pollution, leading to mass calamity and economic migration, food shortages and uncontrollable war, is solved at a stroke.

With a vastly reduced population under total financial and mental control, linked to a centrally organised financial and health/medical control system based on mass medication (psychiatric and physical), the remaining reduced population can enjoy its wealth and resources without causing much damage to the planet. Less consumption equals less pollution and less climate change. Fewer people means more to share for everyone. Quality of life should rise, if measured in terms of materialism. But more importantly to the manipulators, a more sedate population, happier consumers, and more efficient worker ants, under total control and constant monitoring by their controllers.

We will rent everything from the Bosses. Feudalism reinstated.

The Chinese Communist utopia for the whole planet.

We will 'own nothing and be happy.'

We will be slaves to the State, which is itself a slave to a global consortium of uber wealthy global businesses and we will be happy to be so!

The reliance upon technology is already underway. We already rely on the internet and phone apps for a huge amount of our daily activities, communications, transactions etc.

The reliance on apps to tackle Covid started with track and trace apps on our phones. We are forced to use phone apps to provide proof of our Covid status, which is linked to our medical records. The next step will be the vaccine passports, without which we will not be able to enjoy our basic freedoms. This will be further linked to our financial records and activities. Ultimately, these technologies will all be linked to central databases. Medical records and healthcare activities are already held in cloud storage, in real time, on servers owned by companies such as Amazon.

Once we are all owned by a central agency who can access and control all of our data, including our location, at the push of a button, or the triggering of an algorithm for any misdemeanour, we could be cancelled. Our bank accounts could be frozen, our drivers' licence, even our new electric car could be disabled, our travelling even on public transport prevented. Our food shopping, access to medical care and any number of rights and freedoms could be suspended for whatever reason, if we rely on phone apps to exist.

And what if the system crashes? Are we utterly incapacitated then? What if an enemy state infiltrates the system as an act of cyber warfare?

Newer technologies are already in development to implant these technologies in the body to interact with other devices. Devices exist for implantation to deliver medication and vaccines too. Do we just sit back and allow these kinds of technologies to take over our lives?

If we refuse? Well, we have already seen what happens to those who resist fascist governments. We've all seen and read the books predicting a fascist dystopian world, haven't we?

You might be right on board with the message now, singing the praises of the healthcare system, their miraculous vaccines, and putting on your masks dutifully, whilst denouncing everyone who isn't on message as either mad or bad. You might think it's great to have your medical status on your phone linked to a passport to enable you to get into a nightclub or travel on a plane or train. Enjoy these freedoms while they last. Because it won't stop there.

You might feel safe in the knowledge that penalties are only for the unvaccinated. But what happens when they come for you? What happens when you find they've gone too far and wish to impose something on you that you no longer find acceptable? For example, when you've been doubly vaccinated and they then tell you that you are now officially unvaccinated because you haven't had a booster. Your app now says you are unvaccinated, and therefore your precious freedoms are curtailed.

Then they dictate that you cannot go shopping without a valid passport. You cannot feed your family. You have suddenly become one of the bad guys. What if being a bad guy becomes illegal and you are liable to be arrested and detained? And on it goes.

Who is going to be there to support you? Who is going to stop them doing what they wish to you and your loved ones?

Don't forget, they have already been responsible for the deaths of untold millions while you cheered from your doorsteps and demanded more and more restrictions on yourselves, and even more on the dissenters.

It is now time to oppose and resist the entire agenda. Or it may be too late to be effective.

Just refuse to play along now, and they cannot continue. Just simply refuse and resist the madness.

It's that simple.

If we all do so, and we are in the vast majority, they cannot continue with their plan. The plan relies on mass compliance. If we don't comply, it cannot get to the stage of mass subservience. If it gets to the stage where we rely on their technocracy to exist, then it will be too late.

Refuse to do what you are told, simply because they tell you. Refuse to take part in illegal activities based upon overriding the rule of law that states you cannot be forced to harm yourself if you do not wish to or take a medicine that you do not wish to. You cannot be coerced or enticed to take any experimental medicine without fully informed consent, by law.

Can you imagine anyone or any movement of people in Communist China being able to change the system to regain the kind of freedoms we value in the West? Of course not. It is clearly too late for those under the yoke of the communist system to change their infrastructure. Any movement that tries, and any movement that holds a belief that is contrary to that of the State is quickly put down.

China does not have a democracy. The West has democracy, even if its democratic processes are under strain and attack at present. We still have freedoms and rights to protest, to choose our own destination as individuals and as nations. We still have laws underpinning our freedoms and millions of citizens who refuse to succumb to tyranny.

Amongst us are some of the most gifted and brave scientists and doctors in the world who stand beside us and are prepared to lose their careers in the name of truth, true science and medical freedom. We have millions of citizens in public service, politics and law who have the ability to overturn all of this at a stroke.

We have a population of billions. They have a relative handful of psychopaths and paid lackeys.

How could they hope to control a force of billions unless those billions chose to hand over their minds, bodies and souls to those who would exploit them for personal and ideological gain?

Do not buy into any propaganda coming through your tv from these untrustworthy politicians and scientists who are paid lackeys for a corrupt pharmaceutical industry and those consortia of power brokers that sit above them in the pecking order.

Don't believe their fake statistics that tell you how many people are 'infected', or who are 'overwhelming the hospitals'. They are using every clever manipulation of statistics possible to keep us all confused. One must do one's own research on available data and scientific papers to make sense of what the data actually is and what it implies.

Some of those manipulations of data and statistics are not even that clever or well hidden.

For example, by defining 'vaccinated' as having had 2 doses of the vaccine, and only at 14 days after the second dose, they are able to hide the deaths of those who have been jabbed. If you die before then from a reaction to the jab, you are 'unvaccinated. This is why every time there is a rollout in a certain age cohort there is a huge spike in deaths. But the spike is categorized as of the 'unvaccinated'. They died as a result of the jab but are officially unvaccinated.

How else can anyone explain why there is a concurrent rise in deaths in the unvaccinated, and little rise in deaths of the 'vaccinated' immediately following every rollout of these jabs?

When they tell you it's a 'pandemic of the unvaccinated' they are not disclosing that they are basing their figures on months of data including a time period near the start of the vaccine rollout when nearly everyone was unvaccinated.

That way, when the hospitals are full of vaccinated people who are either infected or vaccine-damaged, and at an ever-increasing rate, they can announce that the hospitals are full of the unvaccinated. Make logical sense to you? No, me neither.

When we see populations in places such as Gibraltar – 100% vaccinated – having serious outbreaks of Covid, we are supposed to believe it's a 'pandemic of the unvaccinated'. More bizarrely, we are supposed to believe that the vaccines are actually preventing Covid. Especially when we know vaccination for respiratory viruses are only effective against systemic effects and cannot prevent viruses attacking the airways and gut? No, doesn't compute with me either.

And when we see massively vaccinated nations having a greater ratio of vaccinated people in hospital with more severe symptoms than ever, whilst the ratio per population of unvaccinated are having milder symptoms, and in a lower proportion, we are supposed to believe them when they say the vaccinations are effective at reducing symptoms and hospitalizations.

Such lies are blatant, and rely on statistical sleights of hand, as well as the gullibility of a naïve, fearful and confused population suffering from Stockholm Syndrome and cognitive dissonance.

When data coming from numerous sources around the world tells a clear and consistent story, and yet your own government is telling a very different story via the mainstream news media, it is reasonable to infer that what they are saying is the propagandised version, and not the whole truth.

When they tell you it's an impending disaster when a new variant like Omicron that has less affinity for the lungs than the previous variant, but targets the upper respiratory tract - making it one step closer to a common cold. When they use news of a less severe virus strain spun into a narrative to increase panic and promote further restrictions and uptake of the vaccine, it is reasonable to assume that you are being deliberately misled.

When they tell you to take a fake vaccine created for a 2-year-old strain of the virus, for a variant that has more mutations than ever seen before in history; a virus that has been developed in people who have already received 2 or 3 doses of the very vaccine they are telling you to take to prevent it, the clear mismatch between data and logic should be clear.

Interestingly, like the original Wuhan SARS-CoV-2 virus, the Omicron variant was first found in a city that has a lab working on the virus – in this case Durban in S. Africa. Omicron appears to have affinity with none of the current variants and appears related to a strain that was present last year. It has now miraculously reappeared in a massively mutated form, leaving no trace of its evolution. Again, it has the hallmarks of a lab engineered virus.

How can anyone seriously respect leaders who use the statistics based on whether you have had a positive test for some viral genetic fragment you may have had some time in the previous 28 days? And then use that to create statistics they claim to be death from Covid, if you have died from any cause within that 28 day period? A test which says nothing about whether you are actually ill or not from a virus that is almost 100% curable?

It is utterly nonsensical. But it's vital that you believe the illogical and nonsensical data for their plan of control to work. Part of your programming is to create cognitive dissonance, confusion and fear, because that makes you susceptible to more nonsensical data, and therefore compliant with their plan.

Resist. Refuse. Unite.

Together, in Truth, we can change the world!

Links to Covid prevention, and treatment protocols can be found here (These are for information purposes. Always consult a qualified practitioner before taking any medication):

<https://covid19.onedaymd.com/2021/11/dr-peter-mccullough-early-treatment.html>

<https://vladimirzelenkomd.com/treatment-protocol/>

<https://covid19criticalcare.com/covid-19-protocols/>