

FOR ALL CLIMATE CHANGE DENIERS!

I have just finished re-reading Christopher Booker's excellent book titled "The Real Global Warming Emergency"<sup>1</sup>. This book should be compulsory reading for all politicians and climate change fanatics as it describes from the IPCC's first report, in 1990, to the Copenhagen conference, in 2009, some of the IPCC's deceit, lies and manipulation, all aimed at promoting the fallacy that human beings are mainly responsible for catastrophic Anthropogenic Global Warming (AGW).<sup>2</sup> The number of professional scientists of international standing who have resigned from IPCC committees due to their adverse views being ignored or deliberately doctored in the final IPCC reports is confirmation of this.

In addition, the publicity of the lies and deceit by the IPCC resulting from the Mann "hockey stick" saga and the "climategate" emails from the discredited University of East Anglia should have also alerted everybody to the total AGW sham being perpetrated on the general public. Also, none of the doomsday predictions concerning AGW have been realised.

Despite all this evidence, the AGW sound bite that 97% of "experts" agree that global warming is mostly man made is still being repeatedly trotted out. This was based on a "review" of abstracts of 11,944 peer reviewed papers published over a 21 year period which supposedly endorsed the scientific consensus on AGW. The 11,944 papers were reviewed later by another group who established that only 0.3% of the papers reviewed actually endorsed man-made global warming as defined in the original review. This result was confirmed when 31,487 American scientists, including 9,029 holding PhD's, signed the Oregon Petition which disputed the notion of anthropogenic climate alarmism. Unfortunately, U.S. President Barack Obama sent out in 2013, a tweet claiming 97% of climate experts believe global warming is "real, man-made and dangerous." Apart from being disastrously untrue, the survey he was referring to didn't even ask that question. So, why was the President of the most powerful nation in the world promulgating such falsehoods?

Sadly, even Prince Charles has been guilty of spreading false claims about AGW. In 2005, (17 years ago) he said climate change should be seen as the "greatest challenge to face man" and treated as a much bigger priority in Britain. He then claimed in a speech to business leaders that the world has only 100 months to act "before the damage caused by global warming becomes irreversible" That was in 2009, 13 years, (156 months) ago. So, why are we still getting snowfalls, cold winters and increasing ice growth in the Antarctic? Yet Prince Charles was still banging the AGW drum at the 2022 COP 26 conference in Glasgow. All this coming from a man who talks to his vegetables to help their growth! He should stop making stupid political statements as he is bringing himself and the Monarchy into disrepute.

It is also ludicrous to maintain that CO<sub>2</sub> is bad for the planet. If it falls below about 150 ppm all plant life will die and all human existence with it. In fact, CO<sub>2</sub> levels have in centuries past been 10 times higher than today and if anything, current CO<sub>2</sub> levels need to be increased not diminished. Currently, CO<sub>2</sub> comprises around 400ppm of the atmosphere, which has been increasing by around 1.5ppm pa for many years. Human emissions contribute around 3% of that annual increase & the UK only emits around 1% of that 3%, i.e., 0.00045ppm pa.

You will be aware that over time atmospheric CO<sub>2</sub> concentration follows global temperature – not the other way around – and that human CO<sub>2</sub> emissions fell dramatically during Lockdown, while CO<sub>2</sub> concentration went up. You should also know that increasing CO<sub>2</sub> levels result in global greening, which absorbs CO<sub>2</sub> - a feedback loop which doesn't seem to be factored in IPCC models.

Apparently, the wholesale change-over from petrol and diesel engine cars to electrically powered vehicles (EV's) is essential to achieve the UK's target of bringing all greenhouse gas emissions to net zero by 2050. However, there are nearly 25 million dwellings in the UK 52% of which are terraced or semi-dets and 21% are flats. The RAC estimates that 18 million homes can utilise off-street parking to accommodate EV charging at home. How are the "other" 7 million households going to charge their EV's? Has any thought at all been given to the trip hazard for the blind, disabled and elderly of live electric cables draped over the pavements, especially in wet weather?

Apparently, climate change zealots have allegedly said that all "climate deniers" should be prosecuted! I have some sympathy for that argument. However, it is the real climate deniers who should be prosecuted. They are, all those politicians, scientists, media outlets, (particularly the BBC, Sky News and the Guardian), weather forecasters and others who have prostituted their positions, training, careers and common sense to promote the seriously flawed and untrue philosophy of AGW. That is, they refuse to acknowledge that man made CO<sub>2</sub> makes an imperceptibly small contribution to global warming. Dr Bruce C Bunker in his book "The Mythology of Global Warming" demolishes every claim made by the global warming zealots with facts and figures. He concludes that "the science of global warming is indeed settled", that is

GLOBAL WARMING IS A MYTH

For the government to swallow all the fallacious hype on climate change, let alone establish government policy on it, is totally insane. The law to achieve net zero must be repealed at once. Even optimistic estimates of the cost of reaching net-zero by 2050 show that it will cost £250 billion.<sup>4</sup> The government's action to reduce gas and coal consumption is therefore illogical and insane, as they are the cheapest forms of energy. Gas is abundantly available in the UK, so the UK must prioritise gas production, particularly by allowing UK companies to start fracking in earnest. Coal mines and coal fired power stations must also be prioritised together with nuclear power stations. But new nuclear stations will take some years to become more productive.

As a member of the public I have been able to satisfy myself that AGW is a total sham. The government, with all the resources at its disposal must also be very aware that AGW is a total sham. Yet they persist in promoting this fallacy and are intent on ruining the UK economy in the process for whatever reason known only to them. The UK has already suffered over 50 years of lies and deceit by the Conservative, Labour and Liberal/Lib Dem parties over the EU, so lies and deceit are their stock in trade. They have also lied and deceived us over the so-called global warming for at least 20 years and are intent on making this last at least for another 30 years and decades beyond that. Lying and deceit are these parties' stock-in-trade. Therefore, they must NEVER be allowed to govern this country again. They are imposing a flawed strategy and an enormous burden on the sovereign people, without their consent and they must be held accountable for that.
